Free Startup Manager For Windows (2022)

Startup Manager 1.5 is an application that helps you properly configure startup items before Windows starts. If you used to restart your PC every time you had to log on, you may have faced a bunch of problems. Startup Manager is a bit different than traditional Startup Items, because it considers items not related to the user; e.g. automatic programs for audiovisual settings or applications. With Startup Manager it's possible to add, modify or delete those items, even if they weren't originally part of the PC. Startup Manager runs automatically on reboot, thereby ensuring startup items are loaded. It avoids adding items that are disabled in the Device Manager, as well as looking for duplicate entries in the registry. It analyzes the input of the users and makes its decisions by comparing the user settings with the actual content of the registry. Check if your startup items are configured correctly With Startup Manager, it's possible to check the configuration of your startup items before Windows starts. You can not only view their status, but you can also modify their actions or add them. When you load a program, the application will check if a shortcut is configured for it. If so, it will be launched. If the program is installed in a folder, Startup Manager will check for both shortcuts and other files. Autostart applications There are two tabs that show all the programs that run automatically when Windows is booted. In the first tab you can add applications, while in the second tab you can remove them. When entering the second tab, you can first load or reload a program by using the arrow buttons, making it easier for you to find the required entry. You can also remove an application by using the minus button, or view its properties by using the double arrow button.
